To whom it may concern,

We have received a request for information on products that we supply to your company that may contain any of the 6 current substances considered as "hazardous for environment used in materials" according with the Declaration for ROHS Conformity.

We certify that steel products manufactured by DEACERO SAPI de CV, do not contain hazardous substances according with Directive 2002/95/EC of the European Parliament of the council of 27 January 2003, therefore, we comply with the ROHS regulation.

The stock material we supply or any vinyl films that may be applied, therefore, do not apply to ROHS regulations and we consequently are not required under ROHS regulations.

In DEACERO we visualize sustainability as an integral part of all our operations by generating economic, social and environmental value. We believe that the satisfaction of the present needs should not compromise the ability of future generations to satisfy their own. That is the reason because we take care of our impacts in all the stages of the process.

Please let me know if you need anything else.

Sincerely,
